PROJECT DESCRIPTION (separate attachment)

The project description will be attached as a separate file. The file should be a maximum of three pages in length (single spaced, 12 point font, 1" margins) and include:

Project Synopsis: This should be a concise description of the SRCA project in a paragraph. Please note that this paragraph may be used in communication to the wider Sheridan community, including the Sheridan website.

Objectives: What do you intend to do? Clearly summarize the aims of your project.

Background and Significance: Relate your project to the current state of knowledge in your discipline, and if appropriate, to any work currently in progress. How is the work innovative? What will the findings contribute to your field? Why is the work important and/or what benefits might be gained through the research and/or creative activities?

Research Methods/Approach: How are you going to do the work? Outline your design and the methods to be used for data collection, analysis, and interpretation. For projects focused on creative activity please explain the specifics of the how the project will be carried out.

Anticipated Outcomes: What are the expected outcomes of the project (e.g. preliminary stage of a larger project, technical report, publication or presentation, future application for external funding, etc.) and how will you disseminate them?

Student Benefit: Provide a clear statement of the direct and/or indirect benefits that students will receive from your project.

References/Citations: These should be included within the page limit.
