IMPORTANT NOTICE AND DISCLAIMER

This website is subject to Sheridan's Privacy and Legal Statement (<http://www.sheridancollege.ca/privacy-legal.aspx>).

This Program and Course Calendar is intended to assist readers to understand the academic and administrative structure and policies and procedures of Sheridan, and to describe the academic programs. By the act of registration each student becomes bound by the policies and regulations of Sheridan, including the Faculty in which the student is registered. Students are responsible for familiarizing themselves with the general information, rules and regulations contained in the Program and Course Calendar, and with the specific information, rules and regulations of the Faculty or Faculties in which they are registered or enrolled or seek registration or enrolment, as well as the specific requirements of each degree, diploma or certificate sought. It is the student's responsibility to ensure that the courses chosen are appropriate to the program requirements.

The information contained in the Program and Course Calendar including but not limited to faculty and program information webpages and all courses, including but not limited to course and/or program campus locations, set out in Sheridan's course calendar are subject to change without notice. Nothing in Sheridan's Program and Course Calendar should be viewed as a representation, offer and/or warranty. Students are responsible for verifying Sheridan admission, graduation, course, program, and fee requirements, as well as any requirements of outside institutions, industry associations, independent governing bodies, accreditation bodies or any other bodies that may award designations concurrently with, after completion of, or as a result of a Sheridan program and/or course. Students are responsible for verifying the scope of practice that may be permitted by any outside institutions, industry associations, independent governing bodies, accreditation bodies or any other bodies that may award designations. Sheridan makes no representation, offer and/or warranty about career opportunities and suggests only possible opportunities that may be available after a program and/or course.

Sheridan reserves the right to make changes, including but not limited to course and/or program campus locations in the information contained in the Program and Course Calendar without prior notice. Not every course listed in the Program and Course Calendar will necessarily be offered in any academic year. Sheridan reserves the right to limit the number of students who enrol in any program or course. While reasonable efforts will be made to offer courses as required within programs, admission to a program does not guarantee admission to any given course.

Sheridan disclaims all responsibility and liability for loss or damage suffered or incurred by any student or other individual, person or group as a result of delays in or termination of its services, courses or classes by reason of force majeure, public health emergencies, pandemic, fire, flood, riots, war, strikes, lock-outs, damage to Sheridan property, financial exigency or other events beyond the reasonable control of Sheridan.

Sheridan disclaims any and all liability to any student or any other individual, person or group for damages arising as a result of errors, interruptions or disruptions to operations or connected with its operations or its campuses, arising out of computer failure or non-compliance of its computing systems.
